SENATE DID NOT VOTE

Washington, August 7—The senate adjourned today without voting on Statehood. A vote is promised tomorrow, however, on the Nelson substitute.

Meeting of Bar association

Albuquerque, Aug. 5.—The New Mexico Bar Association will hold its annual meeting in Albuquerque on August 28 and 29 and the members of the Bernalillo County Bar association, which will arrange for the program as far as local features are concerned, are already working industriously to make the gathering one of the most successful in the history of the annual association meetings. The various sessions of the annual meet will probably be held in the Commercial Club, President Charles A. Spiess, presiding. A number of distinguished lawyers of the territory are down on the program for papers on interesting live wire topics. Members of the legal profession from other states have accepted invitations to deliver addresses and read papers on subjects which will be announced later. The crowning feature of the social side of the meeting will be the banquet to be held in the Alvarado hotel on August 29, beginning at 8:30. The banquet will be a brilliant affair and will be complimentary to the visitors by the Bernalillo County association.

With the Insurrectos

Austin Brumbach, formerly a prominent attorney of Eldorado, Kan., once superintendent of the Butler county schools and brother of the late E. B. Brumbach, an attorney of Butler county, is a leading officer and a member of the directing council of the Mexican insurrecto army. John Moore, 1916 Jackson avenue, who entertained the former legal light at San Diego, Cal., last week, is authority for the statement.

Mr. Brumbach is well known in this city and in practically all parts of Southern Kansas. He was a school mate of F. H. Harper, of the Home Builders association in this city, and has a number of close friends in Wichita.

He disappeared from his home in Eldorado four years ago because, it is said, he was charged with contempt of court by Judge G. P. Ackerman, of Eldorado. He has never been seen in Eldorado or by Eldorado people since. His closest friends be-

Death of Ruby Shirley

Ruby Shirley, the sixteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shirley, died yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, after having suffered for several days with spinal meningitis. Funeral services will be conducted this morning at the residence of the grandfather, I. N. Shirley, north west of town, by Rev. J. Q. Herrin at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Estancia Cemetery. The News joins a host of friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Will it be You next?

"It makes me tired to continually read in the paper about rubbish in the streets, and the editor is always harping about using lime to destroy flies and prevent sickness. It makes me tired." This is exactly the way some Lakewood people talk. That is all right! Well make you tired some more. When you or some of your family get sick, we can then harp again, and tell you that you were forewarned. What we are trying to get you to do is to keep us from having to write obituaries and funeral notices, and—had you thought of it—yours or some of your loved ones may be the first we'll have to write. Therefore, you had better get busy.—Lakewood Progress.

lieved him in Arizona. His wife is said to be superintendent of the New Mexico public schools and well known over that territory.

Mr. Moore stated that Mr. Brumbach had become wealthy and was a popular American among the Mexican rebels. His meeting with the former Eldoradoan was very unexpected, he stated, and the soldier of fortune's disclosures were equally surprising. He asserted Mr. Brumbach's adventures read like the romance of a novel. Dr. F. B. Lawrence, of this city, who knows of Mr. Brumbach's presence in Mexico, said today that the natives coupled with the unusual man's name the favorite Mexican adage:

"What God has not done the Americano will do."—Ex.

POLITICAL DAY AT MOUNTAINAIR

Mountainair, Aug 7—Today was political day at the Chautauqua and three prominent New Mexico politicians addressed a large crowd. They were: W. P. Medcalf, socialist, Ralph C. Ely, republican and Judge W. A. McGill democrat. All three addresses were good, better than usual. In fact were enjoyed by the audience.

Tomorrow morning the annual meeting of the Chautauqua stockholders will be held at which some very important business will be transacted. An unique advertising method will be adopted at this time, in accord with suggestions made today.

Tomorrow is missionary day and a varied program, in charge of Mrs. Mollie Leaming will be given.

Denton C. Crowl will lecture on "Character and Characters" tomorrow night. This is one of Sam Jones' famous lectures.

This afternoon Hon. Ralph C. Ely made an eloquent exposition of republican principles. He said that only the abuse of consolidation was a bad thing, and discoursed favorably on the reciprocity bill. Mr. Ely said that in the light of democratic criticism of the newly framed constitution, reforms in New Mexico could be made on the statute books and not in the constitution. He spoke of the territorial corporation laws which he said permitted over-capitalization, and said, nothing has done more harm to New Mexico, than the "wild cat scheme" presented on an eastern market. He spoke of present prosperity and defined the republican idea of a productive tariff and one which equalized economic conditions by a levy of a tax sufficient to allow a foreign product to be bought in this country on the same basis as a domestic product.

W. P. Metcalf made a strong array of his arguments. He outlined society as being divided into wage earners and industry owners, "Browsweaters," and "Moneysweaters." They call us agitators and say we use strong language, but it is not too strong. No good cause suffers from agitation and no bad cause is helped by this.

Judge McGill was the last speaker and made an old time democratic speech. He frequently had his audience in laughter. He spoke emphatically in favor of the initiative, referendum and the recall. He said the Flood resolution removed the English speaking requirement from the enabling act. He urged the primary for all officers including the U. S. Senators as a means of obviating "Jock-pots" and the use of money in election. He closed with a brilliant picture of STATEHOOD.

Paroled after Five Years

After having served five years and six months of a seven years sentence for train robbery, John Black was released Wednesday from the Leavenworth, Kansas penitentiary on parole. Black, in company with his brother, James Black, and John Murphy attempted to rob the Rock Island mail train at Logan, N. M., on the night of June 30, 1904. The men were tried in Las Vegas and convicted, being sent to the federal prison in 1905.

The trial of the three men was the most sensational legal proceeding in the history of the fourth judicial district if not of the entire territory. Several trials resulted in hung juries. The cases were hard fought and the suspected robbers put up a strong defense. The evidence was purely circumstantial and the Blacks and Murphy stoutly maintained their innocence.

Black is about 40 years of age. He was a locomotive engineer before his arrest. Upon leaving prison, Black went to Guthrie, Okla. He still maintains he was sent to prison for a crime he did not commit. Jim Black was released on parole last January. Murphy is still in prison.—Tumcari News

Limited in ditch No one Hurt

Flagstaff, Ariz., Aug. 5.—The crack California limited on the Santa Fe ran head on into a freight train here this morning, wrecking a caboose and four box cars. The limited escaped with a few minor mishaps, none on board being hurt at all. The engine men saw the crash was inevitable and after reversing the locomotive they jumped to safety landing unhurt. The wreck caused a delay of six hours for trains at this point. The blame for the accident has not been fixed, but it is believed the freight had not made the siding in time for the limited to pass.

Took Poison by Mistake

Barton, N. M., Aug. 5—When Mrs. Eden, Saturday took some medicine that had been prescribed for rheumatism, she thought that it tasted bitter. She gave the matter no heed, however, until she became violently ill when it was discovered that instead of medicine she had taken poison by mistake. She was given emergency treatment and will recover.

Revise Your Life

By GEO. H. GIVAN

Take down the book of life, my friend,
With care examine its condition;
And if you find mistakes, my friend,
Bring out, at once, a new edition.

Look for misprints on every page—
Each page may need a close revision;
Rewrite each word, re-read each line
Before you print the new edition.

Cross out the wicked, filthy words,
Correct the deeds of vile intention;
Blot from each leaf unholy thoughts
As you prepare the new edition.

Mark off each angry, hateful look,
For they've a tinge of dark perdition;
Omit the scowl and saddening frown,
And make a pleasing new edition.

Let manhood bustle as you write,
Let courage have its fond fruition;
Let hope and love, and joy and peace
Fill many a page of this edition.

Where failure was there write success—
Give honor true a bold position;
Let truth and justice—heaven born,—
Give priceless worth to this edition.

Be careful how you punctuate
That none may have a false suspicion;
For out of place one little mark
Would greatly mar your new edition.

Let all the polished grace and art
For which a God has made provision,
Adorn it all from first to last
And you will have a good edition.

Then send the proof up to the skies—
I know that you can get permission;
And let the printer, great and wise
Correct and print your new edition.

Yes let him print it on your heart
So plain 'twill never need transition;
Then, when you reach the pearly gates
You'll need no more a new edition.

Land Office Decisions

A homestead entry must be canceled as a mere pretext of residence and improvement where it is shown that the entryman merely made occasional visits to the land, where he merely had a house furnished with stove and dishes, it being shown that the entryman was in partnership in a threshing machine and other farm machinery.

The act of March 28, 1908, granting extension in certain cases, is a remedial law, to be liberally construed and applied so as to relieve and assist entrymen who have acted in good faith in the arduous work of reclaiming desert lands, Citing Hoobler vs. Treffry (39L.D.557.)

Views of Farm Scenes

The editor of the News and A. B. Craycraft, of Santa Fe, spent yesterday among the farms west and northwest, securing views of growing crops to be used in advertising the valley. Mr. Craycraft spent some months in the valley nine years ago, and said if any one would have told him that such change would be wrought he would not have believed it. He said he saw enough beans growing yesterday to supply the whole territory for a number of years.
